5th Annual #GivingTuesday
Nonprofit Participation Statewide

Portland, ME - Maine Association of Nonprofits (MANP), the largest membership organization in the state dedicated to strengthening Maine's nonprofits, is celebrating the 5th annual #GivingTuesday today, November 29. This global day of giving harnesses the collective power of individuals, communities and organizations to encourage philanthropy and to celebrate generosity worldwide. #GivingTuesday is held annually on the Tuesday after Thanksgiving and the widely recognized shopping events Black Friday and Cyber Monday to kick-off the holiday giving season and inspire people to collaborate in improving their local communities and to give back in impactful ways to the nonprofits causes they support.

"Mainers are taking part in this global celebration. From the top of the Time and Temp building in Portland to the coastal towns of the Boothbay region, nonprofits across the state are kicking off the charitable giving season," said Mary Erin Casale, Advocacy and PR Manager for MANP. "The more people give back to their community, the more they are engaged in making Maine a better place for all of us."

MANP's biennial Adding Up Impact Report illustrates how nonprofits provide an excellent return on society's investment and details charitable giving in Maine. A new edition of the report is scheduled to be published in February 2017. The latest data shows that on average, Maine people give over $700 per year to charity¹. This number lags behind the national average of $1400. However, Mainers are extremely generous with their time. Approximately 350,000 of Maine's residents volunteer annually, a rate that puts Maine in the top 25% nationally.²

In 2015, nonprofits raised more than $117 million online on #GivingTuesday to help make the world a better place in countless ways. Much more was generated offline and through donations of time and other resources.
